Import your weddings

One row for each wedding brings your whole diary in at once. Each wedding's guests, budget and suppliers come in afterwards, inside that wedding.

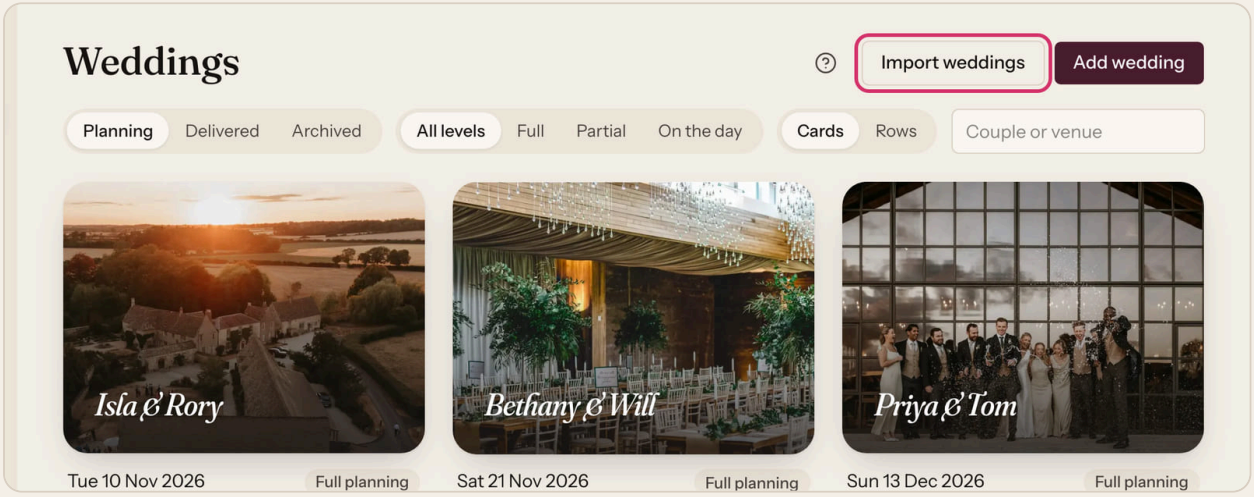

Import weddings is for a list of your weddings, one row each, with the couple's names, the date and the venue. Nothing is saved until you press Import, and you can undo it for 24 hours. A planning tracker with tabs for suppliers, the budget and the timeline is not a list of weddings: add the wedding first, then bring each tab in from inside it. Guests, Budget and Suppliers each have their own import, and there is a Sheet menu to choose the tab, so you never need to split the workbook.

Follow the steps for what you use: Excel · Numbers · Google Sheets.

Excel

1. Make one sheet with one row for each wedding: the couple's names, the date and the venue. A planning tracker with tabs for suppliers or the budget is not a list of weddings, so bring those tabs in from inside the wedding instead.

2. Go to All weddings in the menu and press Import weddings, top right next to Add wedding.

3 Press Choose a file and pick the Excel file. If it has several tabs, choose the one with your weddings under Sheet.

4 Under Map columns, check each column went to the right place: the couple's names, the wedding date, the venue. Set anything else to Ignore this column, then press Continue.

5. Check the preview: one row is one wedding. Press the Import button, which says how many weddings. A wedding already in your list is left alone.

6. Made a mistake? Under Recent imports on the same page, press Undo this import within 24 hours. It removes every wedding that import made, with anything added to them since.

Numbers

1. Go to All weddings in the menu and press Import weddings, top right next to Add wedding.
2. Press Choose a file and pick the Numbers file as it is. If it has several tabs, choose the one with your weddings under Sheet.
3. Under Map columns, check each column went to the right place: the couple's names, the wedding date, the venue. Set anything else to Ignore this column, then press Continue.
4. Check the preview: one row is one wedding. Press the Import button, which says how many weddings. A wedding already in your list is left alone.

5. Made a mistake? Under Recent imports on the same page, press Undo this import within 24 hours. It removes every wedding that import made, with anything added to them since.

Google Sheets

1. In Google Sheets, choose File, then Download, then Microsoft Excel (.xlsx).
2. Go to All weddings in the menu and press Import weddings, top right next to Add wedding.
3. Press Choose a file and pick the file you just downloaded, then the tab with your weddings under Sheet.
4. Under Map columns, check each column went to the right place: the couple's names, the wedding date, the venue. Set anything else to Ignore this column, then press Continue.
5. Check the preview: one row is one wedding. Press the Import button, which says how many weddings. A wedding already in your list is left alone.
6. Made a mistake? Under Recent imports on the same page, press Undo this import within 24 hours. It removes every wedding that import made, with anything added to them since.

Good to know

There is no spreadsheet import for the timeline yet, so add its moments on the wedding's Timeline. Rather we did it? Moving your weddings in is free: ask from Settings.
